"KOYTHULSAVAM"

For the new-gen kids Emerald green paddy fields are just an idyllic visual. They hardly know how it feels to tread the pulverised soil to place seedlings or collect the crop using a sickle. But the students of MTM College Arts, Science and Commerce, Veliyancode, are a different breed as they have hands-on experience in each step of the cultivation process. The enthusiasm of the students took to the skies when District Panchayath Member AK Subair led them to the field to harvest the paddy they had cultivated near the college. Wearing a tucked up dhoti, Mr.AK Subair inaugurated the harvest festival 'Koythulsavam' of the paddy cultivated by the students. The cultivation took place under the banner of the Nature Club and National Service Scheme(NSS) to promote farming habits among students. 3 months ago, our students ploughed the land and then sowed' Rakthashali 'paddy seeds. Rakthashali, with red husk and grain,is considered uneconomical compared to high-yielding rice varieties. Students cultivated Rakthashali in an organic way without adding any pesticides after knowing about its medicinal value. College Librarian Mr.FaisalBava welcomed all to the festival. Grama panchayath member Smt.Raslath delivered felicitations. Vote of Thanks was delivered by Mr.Asik NP, Nss Programme Officer and HOD, Department of Management.

"PATHEMAARIKKAALAM"

The experiences narrated was an exciting moment for the students. Sri Sakkeer, son of Sri Kunjimoideen also spoke on the occasion. Later, Sri Dominic Sypson, Principal of MTM College honored Sri Kunjimoideen with shawl and memento.
