SIP - ANNUAL REPORT 2023-24

The Students Initiative in Palliative Care (SIP) embarked on its journey during the academic year 2022-23 with the noble aim of promoting palliative orientation among students and extending a helping hand to the needy. Throughout the academic year 2023-24, SIP continued its endeavors with unwavering commitment, organizing various programs and initiatives aimed at making a positive impact on society.

Program Highlights:

Throughout the academic year 2023-2024, the SIP at MTM College of Arts, Science, and Commerce, Veliyancode, has undertaken various programs and events aimed at community engagement, and social welfare. These initiatives have been instrumental in fostering holistic development among students while promoting social responsibility and awareness within the community.

Blood Donation Camp:

On 15th June 2023, SIP, in collaboration with the Department of Sociology, NSS, BDK, and Blood Bank Perinthalmanna, organized a blood donation camp to commemorate World Blood

Donation Day. The camp successfully encouraged students to contribute to this noble cause, exemplifying the spirit of altruism and community service.

Eye Test Medical Camp

On 3rd October 2023, SIP, in collaboration with Ahlaya Eye Hospital and the Department of Sociology, conducted an Eye Test Medical Camp on the college campus. This initiative provided free eye tests and screenings to students and members of the community, raising awareness about the importance of eye health and promoting community engagement.

Biriyani Challenge for Dialysis Patients

On 26th February 2024, SIP and the Department of Sociology organized the Biriyani Challenge, aimed at raising funds for a dialysis patient's medical expenses. This initiative brought together students, teachers, and the local community to support a noble cause while enjoying a delicious meal, showcasing the power of collective action and compassion.

Kaithang Food Kit Distribution Program: Alleviating Hunger in the Community

The Kaithang Food Kit Distribution Program, initiated by the Sociology Department of MTM College of Arts, Science and Commerce, Veliyancode, stands as a beacon of compassion and social responsibility. This program, deeply ingrained in the ethos of the college and department, exemplifies a commitment to addressing food scarcity and supporting vulnerable individuals within the community. Through monthly distributions of food kits, the program aims to provide essential sustenance to those in need, fostering a culture of empathy and solidarity.

The Kaithang Food Kit Distribution Program operates on a monthly basis, with distributions occurring in June, July, August, September, October, November, and January. The program relies on the generous contributions of students, who collectively pool funds to procure the necessary food items for the kits. These kits are meticulously curated to ensure they meet the nutritional needs of recipients, comprising a diverse selection of staple foods and essentials.

The implementation of the program involves a coordinated effort between faculty members, students, and community volunteers. Prior to each distribution, extensive planning and organization take place to streamline logistical arrangements and optimize the efficacy of the initiative. Faculty members oversee the procurement of food items, while students actively participate in fundraising activities and assist in the assembly and distribution of kits.

Community volunteers play a crucial role in identifying recipients and facilitating the distribution process.

The Kaithang Food Kit Distribution Program has made a profound impact on the lives of countless individuals within the local community. By providing access to nutritious food, the program not only addresses immediate hunger but also promotes health and well-being among recipients. Moreover, the program fosters a sense of belonging and solidarity, reinforcing the college's commitment to social justice and community engagement. Through testimonials and anecdotal evidence, it is evident that the program has instilled hope and resilience in those facing adversity, serving as a lifeline during challenging times.

The Kaithang Food Kit Distribution Program exemplifies the transformative power of collective action and compassion. By addressing food insecurity and fostering community solidarity, the program embodies the core values of social responsibility and empathy. As it continues to evolve and grow, the program stands as a shining example of the positive impact that educational institutions can have on society, leaving an indelible mark on the lives of those it serves.

The academic year 2023-24 witnessed SIP's continued dedication to promoting palliative orientation among students and serving the needs of the community. Through various programs and initiatives, SIP has exemplified the transformative power of collective action and compassion, leaving an indelible mark on the lives of those it serves. As SIP looks towards the future, it remains committed to its mission of creating a more compassionate and inclusive society.
